Newsletter

I know that at this time of year there is a pressure to create a perfect, magical Christmas and sometimes this means stress for yourselves; but I am writing to tell you a secret.

I am writing to tell you that every January, when your child comes back to school, they tell us about the Christmas holidays. They tell us about the days when everyone stayed indoors all day and watched TV.

They tell us about the walk in the freezing cold and having a McDonalds treat. They tell us about staying with family, about snuggles on the sofa watching Christmas movies. They tell us how they went to the park and slipped on the ice, how you played board games and argued over Monopoly.

The children tell us about how they visited a friend's house and stayed up until 3am (they always exaggerate) on New Year's Eve. They tell us how they loved staying in their pyjamas all day and how they went on a trip another day.

They mention their gifts, but for them, Christmas is you, your love and your time.
